

Bio for Charles Guzy

Charles was born in Highland, California (1960), attended San Geronio High School, played on its Varsity Tennis Team, and graduated in the top ten percent of his class (1979).

Charles has a BA in English Literature from the University of California at Santa Barbara; where he majored in Chemical Engineering for his first two years. He has also attended Dowling College in New York, and Santa Fe Community College for two semesters each pursuing a teaching credential. Taking part in a cultural immersion project run through UCSB, Charles worked for one summer in a furniture factory in Germany, and lived with a German family.

Using skills taught to him by his brother, Keith, Charles was a carpenter in California, helping to build houses for a few years upon graduation from college.

While a secondary Science teacher in New York, Charles received “Rookie-Teacher-of-the-Year” award (1989) at a public middle school in the Bronx.

Upon returning from New York, Charles ran his father’s automobile wrecking yard in Ontario, CA; eventually more than doubling sales.

He owned and operated a metaphysical store/healing center/bookstore/gift shop in California for a few years (1997-1999). There he met many amazing and wonderful people.

Charles is a dedicated student of metaphysics and spirituality, which subjects he has studied constantly over the past two decades.

Charles is an avid tennis player, a lover of the outdoors, and an environmentalist. He loves to travel and connect with others upon the subjects about which he feels so passionate. He currently lives in Northern New Mexico.
